Notes to Class Leaders Regarding Refreshment Sign-ups

- 1. Unless previous arrangements are made, the host home/class facilitator usually provides refreshments offered during the first visit. This is why the Refreshment Sign-up sheet starts with Visit Two.
- 2. The Life Series is divided into three parts and the Refreshment Signup sheets below reflect that fact. Class leaders can decide how many weeks in advance they are asking class members to sign-up for.
- 3. The defining factor as to how many people need to sign-up each week for refreshments is dependent on how many are in the group.
- 4. Fellowship and conversation is a vital link in the success of any class. We recommend offering beverages before class and then save desserts until after class, when casual mingling turns into relationship building of like minds and hearts. When food is present, parents will tend to linger after class and enjoy the fellowship.
- 5. We suggest that leaders keep the Refreshment Sign-Up sheet with their Leader's Guide, and at the end of each class remind those responsible for the following weeks refreshment. This avoids the embarrassment of someone forgetting which week they signed up for.
